Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with the difficulty, it is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose. Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy, Swamp-Root, the immediate effect of which is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including all of the testimonials received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

THE BEST OF ALL.

As down the stream of life we glide,
 And vistas open far and wide
 Along the way
 We seek the pleasures of the hour
 And, like the bee from flower to flower,
 Live out life's day.

Or else perchance by care oppressed
 Or weary work we seek for rest
 Wednesday is done
 What's our imperfection be
 No perfect man on earth we see,
 Ah, no, not one.

And so, contented with our lot,
 A peaceful mind and humble coat,
 From envy free,
 Ne'er strive with human pride to cope,
 But wend our way with faith and hope
 And charity.
 —C. S. Kingsland.

The Scarlet Spider.

Whether They Skated In Winter or Summer, In a Hammock In Summer, They Were Caught In Its Web.

"Love, the scarlet spider, will in a night hang between two that have been apart a web too fine for either to see, but the strength of both will never be able to break it."

Who was he? She hardly knew. A partner. She thought of him as nothing else. All the women were given partners as a matter of course.

"Dick," their host had said, "will you have the goodness to look after my niece, Miss Blynn? Edith, let me present Mr. Kirkland." They bowed. They could not well see one another's face there in the twilight. It was a skating party at Lake Geneva, Wis., and two big companies had come down for a week of winter sports, throwing open the houses which ordinarily knew the sound of human voices only in the summer time. The two parties met the first evening after dinner on the ice. It was cloudy, with rifts of indigo where the stars showed, and there was a gusty, cold wind from the west. Now the ice looked bright. A silver ribbon would appear to stretch itself out waveringly, now it was shadowy and mysterious.

Miss Blynn held out her hand automatically to the man to whom she had been introduced.

"I see your skates are on," she said indifferently. "So are mine. Let us skate rather slowly with a long sweep."

A hand began to play in the boat-house by the shore.

"I didn't know we were to have music. It is a waltz. Now I am ready, Mr. Kirkland."

He took her mitted hand in his firm grasp. They moved slowly and easily down the gleaming floor. They crossed the silver ribbon and entered the shadowy woods.

"We shall presently be out of sound of the music," protested Miss Blynn gently. Not that she cared; she and her new companion were moving along with perfect rhythm.

"Perhaps if we listen hard we shall hear the music of the spheres," he said.

"The shadows are black," she remarked, "and the night is cold. After all this too serious for pleasure. It is hard to be frivolous in a place like this. See how forbidding the trees look on the shore and how solemn and menacing the sky is. This is a sermon—this winter night—or it is a tragedy. Let us go back to the house where the lights are burning."

"There is a fire in the boathouse. I heard your uncle say coffee was to be served there. But if you are too much oppressed I wish you would listen to the tragedy a little longer."

"Listen to it? I look at it. It is a tragedy for the eyes, not for the ears. They swung along together with firm momentum. They were conscious of their youth and strength and vigor. Miss Blynn gave voice to her thoughts in an indirect fashion.

"Some people," she said, "are old and weary and sit by the fire and wonder if the winter will never pass."

They both laughed at this—it made a harmonious but startling duet, that laughter, and it echoed from the woodlands.

"Some people," he responded, "go to winter and drag him out of his den, and shake him out of his sulks and make him dance like a trained bear."

They laughed again, though neither of them had been witty.

"I have been skating with you an hour," said he at length, "and I have not an idea of how you look."

"I have been skating with you an hour," she retorted, "and I do not know whether you have red curls or black elf locks."

"Come to the boathouse," he suggested, "and see."

They went in where the fire crackled and where their friends stood in groups drinking coffee and chatting. He undid his cap with his ear lugs; she untied her scarlet velvet hood. What she beheld was a young man of 24 or 25, with deep set gray eyes, a dark skin, dark hair, heavy brows, a smooth face and a large sensitive mouth.

What he beheld was a woman with a snow white skin, black eyes, melancholy and timid in their expression; a high brow, abundant dark hair and a mouth that, essentially serious, broke into unexpected illumining smiles.

"It would be rude of me to say what a service the light has done me," he said stupidly.

"The light has told me a number of things," she responded darily.

"What?" he importuned.

"That you have been a student, loving solitude; that you are melancholy; that you are a merry fellow, and that you like a good book better than a good friend."

"No, no; not the last!" She laughed and took the cup of coffee he offered her. He took note of her gray skating frock, with its edging of black fur, of her scarlet velvet vest and little hood and the white, pensive face peering above her voluminous bonnet. She fell to talking with some others, and presently she flashed up to him for a second.

"I was rude to you with my personal comments," she said under her breath, speaking quickly. "Please forgive me. I knew at the time that I was doing wrong."

Before he could get over thinking how quaint a speech this was she was gone. He saw her no more that night. There was nothing, it would seem, in this brief association to keep him waking till dawn. There was nothing to make her hold her fingers close upon her eyes as if to shut out a vision. The mystery remains always beyond explanation. There is no definition to the magic word; there is no fashion in which the necromancy can be accounted for.

The morning found him eager to see her and found her wondering by what means she could avoid him. There was ice boating, and while he searched for her he saw her flying by in one of the skimming craft, sitting erect and fearless while the great white boat took to itself the wings of a reckless bird.

In the afternoon there was a musical, and he saw her sitting, demure and sober, in a corner where he could not reach her, and later, at dinner, in all the witchery of her gleaming toilet of white, he had the sorry satisfaction of glimpsing her as she went down to dinner with another man.

In the evening she seemed to fit before his eyes like a will-o'-the-wisp. He could never get near enough to speak. He gave up at length and went away angry and hurt, and the next morning a telegram came calling him back to town. He said to himself that he would meet her somewhere, though he was quite aware that her life was a much more given up to fashionable pleasures than his own. But the winter wore away, and he met her nowhere. He could not think of trying to call upon her. She had not asked him to do so. She had seemed not to care for him after that first night, but accuse himself he might of having hid himself on the idea that for a few hours his soul was nearer to hers than it had ever been to that of any other human being. To be sure, their happiness and sweet intimacy had been hidden under badinage and an affectation of indifference, but they were there, all the same.

Summer came.

"I shall see her at the lake," said Kirkland, and he put himself in the way of being invited up, but she was not at her uncle's house. She had gone to the Canadian lakes with an English family. Kirkland concluded that he ought to see Canada. A man really had no business gadding off to the other side of the world till he had seen his own continent. He went rowing on Canandaigua lake and nearly lost his life, but after a fortnight's patience he found his way to the lodge where Miss Blynn's friends lived.

"Miss Blynn grew tired of our grim solitude," said her host. "She says Chicago is pleasant in the summer, though I myself have yet to see the time when I would call it pleasant, and she has gone back home to study something or other. I never knew her so studious."

"She's restless," commented Kirkland. "I wonder why?"

He put all shyness and sense of propriety behind him and determined to find out why. The morning after reaching the city he made himself gay in white duck and boldly called at her house. She was out on a porch at the rear of the severe looking city house and had made herself a miniature country seat then with a few ferns and flowers. The hammock was moving as if she had just quitted it, but when he met her she was rising decorously from one of the chairs that surrounded a reading table littered with the midsummer magazines.

"You haven't your skates on?" she cried jokingly, extending her hand. Her eyebrows went up and came down in a funny, nervous little way and the corners of her mouth seemed tremulous.

"Is it necessary for me to have my skates on in order to recommend myself to your favor?" he inquired.

"I cannot tell," she responded, "till I see how well you converse in Oxford shoes and summer ducks."

They talked nonsense like this for half an hour, but both of them were desiring to keep still and enjoy the happiness of being together again. Neither had the courage to become serious. He arose finally.

"I know how impertinent I have been in calling," he said. "It is justified only by my temptation."

"We can resist everything but temptation," a clever man once said, smiled Miss Blynn.

"Then I may come again?"

"You may come—in two weeks."

"I am coming in a week or not at all."

"Then let it be in a week," she laughed.

But it was not a week. It was three days.

"I've been miserable for seven months through not seeing you," he explained. "I won't stand it any longer unless you condemn me to it."

Her eyebrows went up and down in that curious way of hers.

"I shan't condemn you to it," she said, "because—well, because I came back from Canada, because—well—"

"Well, why?"

"Because it was such a long way from Chicago."

But something in the accent of the speech made it personal and precious to Kirkland. And he lifted her hand to his lips.—Chicago Tribune.

HE GOT NO MONEY.

An Incident in the Boyhood Life of Louis XIII of France.

One day, when the dauphin, afterward Louis XIII, was 5 years old, the Duke of Sully came out to St. Germain well supplied from the treasury with pocket money for the dauphin, says Mrs. Lucy Crump in The Atlantic. The news of the superintendent's arrival set the whole household astir, eager for a share in the expected spoil. Mme. de Monglat hurried the dauphin into the great courtyard of the castle to receive Sully with as much honor as if he had been the king himself. To please the great man the little prince put his infants d'onneur and other attendants through a drill with their toy arquebuses and swords.

"At the end of the show M. de Sully gave the dauphin 50 crowns, which his mock soldiers seized out of his hands so quickly that he had scarce time even to feel them. At last but one piece remained, which he held fast hold of in spite of the efforts of Mme. de Monglat's tailor to get it from him. He—he's trying to take it from me!" shouted the child.

Mme. de Monglat took it, gathered together all the rest of the coins from the reluctant hands of their possessors and kept them all. The dauphin did not complain, but soon after he said, "But I, too, was a soldier, and I didn't get any money."

Hereafter always maintained that a certain reluctance to both spend and give, which characterized Louis in later years, was the direct result of Mme. de Monglat's teaching and example.

A Warning to Borrowers.

A man who was too economical to take this paper sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance and, failing to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into that, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $4 pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the cornfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, the wife ran, upset a four gallon churn full of rich cream into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole dock. In the hurry she dropped a $7 set of false teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the spilled milk and into the parlor, ruining a brand new $20 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up 11 setting hens, and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four fine shirts.—Kansas City Journal.

Saving Trouble.

A provident plumber, on leaving his home for a holiday with his family, placed a placard just inside the hall door couched in the following language:

"To burglars or those intending to burglar: All my plated jewelry and other valuables are in the Safe Deposit company's vaults. The trunks, cupboards, etc., contain nothing but second-hand clothing and similar matter too bulky to remove, on which you would realize comparatively little. The keys are in the left hand top drawer of the sideboard—if you doubt my word. You will also find there a check to bearer for $5, which will remunerate you for the loss of time and disappointment. Please wipe your feet on the mat and don't spill any candle grease on the carpets."—Collier's Weekly.

Gentlemen at Odds.

"Hub!" snorted Mr. Sourdopp to Mr. Argus. "Hub! If you knew half as much as you think you know, you'd know a half more than you do now."

"Is that so?" growled Mr. Argus. "Well, if you don't know twice as much as you don't know, you'd know three times as much as there is to know."—Baltimore American.

The debility of David Duggins has been completely cured.

David Duggins lives in the town of Jones, Ohio County, Kentucky. From there he writes:

"When I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, I had nervous or general debility of three years' duration. I took three bottles of the 'Discovery' during the time I was taking it my sleep became more refreshing and I gained fifteen pounds in weight, and also gained strength every day. It has been six months since I took the medicine and I still have good health."

When a man gets run-down it is hard work to run him up again unless the whole condition of his system is first changed.

That is what the "Golden Medical Discovery" does for him. It begins by regulating his digestive system all poisonous, effete matter. It gives tone to his stomach, activity to his liver, cleanliness to his bowels. While this work is going on the "Discovery" also manifests its potency through his blood and nerves. It fills the blood with rich, red corpuscles and sends them vigorously circulating all over the body to soothe and nourish the tired, abused, scorching nerves.

When a man has nervous prostration it isn't his nerves that are wrong. It's his blood. Bad blood comes from bad digestion—bad stomach, bad liver, bad kidneys. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will put all these organs in good order.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol in any form. It is entirely free from opium and other narcotics and contains neither sugar nor syrup which are injurious to some stomachs. Without any of these ingredients it retains its pleasant taste and healing qualities in any climate and under all conditions.

Don't let a careless or dishonest medicine seller cheat you out of your health by giving you a substitute.

Neat and Cheap. Letter heads, Envelopes, Statements Cards, etc., way down. We have cut 50 per cent.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

EDITOR McDONALD of the Wind-sor Herald appears to have a decided antipathy toward the lawyers of Santa Rosa. When he has nothing else to write about he invariably goes after District Attorney O. O. Webber, whom he would have his readers believe is the greatest wretch ever left unhung. As a matter of fact, however, Mr. Webber is a good citizen and an honor to the bar of Sonoma county. Last week Hon. Emmet Seawell fell under the ban of the Herald man and in his turn came in for a roasting. Now, as Mr. Seawell is one of the foremost lawyers of Northern California and is respected far and near for his many excellent qualities as a man and a lawyer there is no sense in such abuse, as it is really uncalled for. To speak the plain truth, Mac, we don't like this sort of thing at all. It belittles the country editor.

OFFICIAL notice has been sent out from the postoffice department to the various postmasters to the effect that postal money orders will hereafter be cashed at any first or second class postoffice, irrespective of the paying office designated in the order. Another order has been issued authorizing postmasters to cash money orders without waiting for an advice for the same. These improvements, coupled with the fact that receipts are being issued with postal orders, will, in all probability, greatly increase the business of the government money order system.

SUPPORTING a newspaper costs a town scarcely a cent, says the Willows Journal. Though the paper may be well patronized and the business men may spend large sums of money advertising, the cash very quickly gets back into the channel of trade from which it came. Nearly every cent a paper gets is spent at home and it goes to the merchants who delight in benefiting themselves and the community by liberal advertising. Boiled down, the facts are that a newspaper returns all the money it gets to those who have it and its word for town and country are thrown in for good will."

THE judge of a Kentucky court, in order to secure a safer and more civilized condition of affairs in the courtroom, ordered the twelve jurymen and ten attorneys present to lay their pistols in a pile in the corner of the room, but there seemed to be some hesitancy in complying with the request, and the judge insisted. "If your honor will lay his down first," suggested the foreman of the jury, "I guess the rest of us will follow suit." "Certainly, gents," replied his honor, and laid down his gun in the corner. In a few minutes all the others had done the same except the sheriff and his deputy, who were not included, and twenty-three pistols were reposing peacefully on the floor. "Now, gents," said his honor, whipping out another pistol, "the first man that goes near that pile gets it in the neck." In an instant every man's hand went to his other hip-pocket and as his honor dived behind his desk twenty-two bullets went through the window back of where he had been sitting, and twenty-two men were waiting for him to stick his head up, but he did nothing so rash. "Put up them guns," he yelled; "put up them guns, or I'll fine every one of you for contempt of court."

He received his discharge and returned to San Francisco. There all traces of him were lost. He was located by the war department in responses to inquiries set afoot by his family. Overton was one of the most popular young men of Penngrove and his friends are very glad to hear that he is still in the land of the living. He recently fell heir to a neat legacy.

INDIGESTION

If you have it, you know it. You know all about the heavy feeling in the stomach, the formation of gas, the nausea, sick headache, and general weakness of the whole body. You can't have it a week without your blood being impure and your nerves all exhausted. There's just one remedy for you—

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

There's nothing new about it. Your grandparents took it. 'Twas an old Sarsaparilla before other sarsaparillas were known. It made the word "Sarsaparilla" famous over the whole world. There's no other sarsaparilla like it. In age and power to cure it's "The leader of them all."

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists. Ayer's Pills cure constipation. "After suffering terribly I was induced to try your Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles and now feel like a new man. I would advise all my fellow creatures to try this medicine, for it has stood the test of time and its curative power cannot be excelled." I. D. Good, Jan. 30, 1899. Hallowell, Me.

Write the Doctor. If you have any complaint whatever and desire the best medical advice you can possibly receive, write the doctor freely. You will receive a prompt reply, without cost. Address, Dr. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

Protecting Game.

LOVERS of rod and gun are greatly interested in the coming game protection convention which is to be held in San Francisco, May 24th, 25th and 26th. The purpose of the gathering is to formulate plans governing the protection of fish and game. The convention will be attended by delegates from all parts of the State. Local delegates are already discussing matters to be brought before the meeting.

It is deemed advisable to have a law prohibiting the sale of rainbow trout. Another would prohibit the taking or sale of Mykiss or cut-throat trout before June 1st. In the past the law has permitted the taking of steelhead salmon with hook and line in tidewaters at all times. It is considered advisable to protect these fish even from line fishers in tidewaters after February 1st.

Another important proposition that will be advocated is the limiting of the number of game birds that a person may take in one day. Further protection of game birds, especially water fowls, will take the shape of a law prohibiting the killing of game half an hour before sunrise and half an hour after sunset. Many will advocate the prohibition of netting ducks and other game. Serious consideration is being given to what will be a strong move to shorten the open season on all kinds of game. Among the other prohibitive measures will be the sale of grouse and mountain quail and the killing of pheasants at any time. Heretofore snipe, plover and curlew have had no protection. The convention will no doubt advocate giving these birds the same protection as other game. The deer subject will be duly considered and a plan is suggested for their preservation by shortening the open season to six weeks, giving county Boards of Supervisors the right to fix the period for the open season. Where such action is not taken the general laws of the State as to dates will prevail. A proposition to separate the game and fish interests will be made and the suggestion will follow that the expense of a State Game Warden should be borne by the hunters themselves in the form of a license, which may also be imposed upon the game dealers.

A. J. Gallaway, a Healdsburg farmer, has applied to the U. S. District Court to be declared insolvent. He owes nearly $20,000, while his assets are $1050.

To Give an Entertainment June 12th at Union Hall.

The pupils of Presentation Convent of this place will give an entertainment at Union Hall on Tuesday evening, June 12th. The programme, which will appear in these columns later on, will be an entertaining one and no doubt a crowded house will greet the pupils, who are being trained by the good sisters of the school. The price of admission will be 50 cents, children half price.

BREVITIES.

Tuesday was the warmest day of the season.

Daily Examiner and Index-Tribune, $8.80 per year.

Mrs. Pauline McMullen visited Santa Rosa several days this week. A large number of city people are at present visiting in this valley.

Miss Mabel Lowell is home from Berkeley on her summer vacation. The Druids will hold a picnic at Glen Ellen Park on Sunday, May 20th.

For harnesses go to Chas. Wilson, Main street, Petaluma. You will save money.

Mrs. Carl Dresel has returned from a visit to Del Monte, Santa Cruz and Monterey.

Bert Jones has purchased a new Cleveland bike from Will Cleve, the local agent for that wheel.

Arthur Schell will leave San Francisco next week for Europe where he will remain permanently.

The county road leading from bridge at Embarcadero to the Lord ranch has been raised and re-graveled.

Chas. Wilson, Harness Maker, carries a full line of robes, whips, blankets and everything for horsemen. Repairing a specialty. Main street, Petaluma.

Hay-making has commenced in this valley. The acreage and yield will be above the average and the quality if present weather continues will be first-class.

The contract for building Judge Carroll Cook's country home near Glen Ellen has been let to J. O. Kuykendall of Santa Rosa, who will commence work on the cottage at once.

A party of picnickers from El Verano Villa visited Napa Soda Springs yesterday. Granville Harris drove them over in his bus to which was attached four prancing steeds.

Thomas Hopper, the well-known capitalist, has sold out his Santa Rosa Bank stock and resigned as its President. He had 531 shares of stock in the bank which he disposed of for $68,698.

The contract for removing the grass from the Plaza walks and on the outside of the curbing was awarded to G. Perasso, the bid of $26 being the lowest. The ditch contract was awarded to Leo Caminatti for $27.45.

C. L. Carboni, representing the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, will be in town several days next week. He has already insured a number of our citizens in his company which is the oldest and most reliable in the United States.

Do you want the very latest up-to-date designs of wall paper? If so do not fail to place your order with John McNeil of Schellville, agent for the Henry Bosch Company, Chicago, and the California Wall Paper Company. He can fill your orders for from 3 to 50 cents per roll.

The attention of our readers is called to the new advertisement of Wm. Trudgen, proprietor of the Sonoma Stone and Marble Works. Mr. Trudgen makes a specialty of erecting vaults, monuments, copings and walls. Particular attention is also paid to street work, cement sidewalks, curbing etc.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the indication is demoniac enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by F. Duhring.

OLIVE CULTURE.

Many Fine Groves in Sonoma

Valley—J. Chauvet to Manufacture the Product into Oil.

Col. Geo. F. Hooper, when he came to this valley about twenty-five years ago, planted an olive grove on the Sobre Vista farm, now known as the Spreckels ranch. The trees took on a thrifty growth and in the course of a few years became prolific bearers. Later on Col. Hooper erected an olive press and bottling plant and commenced the manufacture of olive oil, confining himself to working up the product of his own grove.

Samples of this oil were sent to the Paris Exposition of 1890 and carried off the medal for its excellence in competition with sunny Italy and the other olive-producing countries of the Old World.

Following this recognition of the Sonoma Valley product many small olive groves were planted in the vicinity of this place and the country surrounding Glen Ellen, all of which are now in full bearing. As Col. Hooper sold his place and removed to San Francisco several years ago, interest in olive culture ceased for a time and the olive trees have not proved very remunerative.

Now comes J. Chauvet, (Glen Ellen's enterprising viticulturist, who, recognizing the merit of Sonoma Valley olives, has decided to install a plant for the manufacture of olive oil in connection with his winery which is run by water power. It is his intention to handle the entire product of Sonoma Valley. The press and other machinery will be set up in time to handle this year's crop. Thus will this valley add another product to its many and varied resources.

The Democrats.

A call has been issued for a meeting of the Democratic County Central Committee in Santa Rosa on Saturday, May 19th, at 1 p.m. The committee meets for the purpose of arranging for the selecting of nineteen delegates to the Democratic State Convention to be held in Sacramento on June 14th, which body will elect delegates to the National Convention which convenes at Kansas City, Missouri, July 4th.

County Funds.

Chairman Glynn of the Board of Supervisors, Deputy Auditor Goodwin and Deputy District Attorney Weske counted the money in the county treasury Monday with the following result:

Balance April 1st, 1900.....	$200,275.06
Receipts for April.....	10,283.44
Total.....	210,558.50
Disbursements for April.....	$39,012.40
.....	$171,546.10
Examiner's count.....	171,548.19
Surplus.....	90

Cheap Street Sprinkling.

Jack Stademan got out his new sprinkling cart last Monday and laid the dust on Broadway and the four streets facing the Plaza. Jack is giving good service for the money doled out to him by an economical Board of City Trustees. He furnishes the water, the cart, two horses and drives the team himself all for $2.40 per day.

Agua Caliente Springs Changes Hands.

To be Re-Married.

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Freddiani (nee Christine Freggio) who were married by Judge Brown in Santa Rosa one day last week, will be re-married to-morrow by Rev. Father O'Malley.

Welcome Showers.

The heavy showers of rain last Wednesday night and Thursday morning gave the ground a good soaking and was a great thing for vineyards, orchards and corn fields.

A Rich Man's Project.

A rich man's statement that he intends to devote almost his entire immense fortune to charitable works has aroused much discussion. This is because it will relieve much distress and accomplish much good. It is a praiseworthy endeavor of course, but there are many other agencies hardly discussed at all which accomplish just as much good. Take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for instance—the great American remedy for all stomach ills. For fifty years it has cured constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, nervousness, and all the numerous ills which arise from weak digestion. This medicine will keep the most delicate stomach in good shape, and the bowels regular. It is a wonderful restorative tonic and health builder; also a great blood purifier and nerve strengthener. It is also a preventive for malaria, fever and ague. Ask for it, and insist upon having it. See that a Private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.

DEPARTURE OF A GOLD-SEEKER.

Jas. A. Shaw Leaves for Alaska Next Monday.

Jas. A. Shaw of Kenwood was in town Tuesday bidding good bye to his old Sonoma friends, as he leaves Monday for the gold fields of York, Alaska. These new diggings are located 100 miles beyond Nome and are reached by steamer, the mining camp being six miles inland. Mr. Shaw last year staked out a number of claims at that point, which he left in charge of a son of Press Davis of Santa Rosa, who decided to winter there. In returning to York it is Mr. Shaw's intention to prospect these claims, the value of which are at present unknown. He started in to prospect them last fall but the snow and ice compelled him to cease operations after securing several fair prospects. The gold is there but whether it exists in paying quantities will be determined by Mr. Shaw and his fellow prospectors the coming summer. He avers if he strikes it rich he will return to old Sonoma and paint the entire county a deep red. Bon voyage, Jim.

The Woodmen.

Ellenwood Camp, No. 482, Woodmen of the World of Glen Ellen, initiated six new members last Saturday evening. A large number of Woodmen came down from Santa Rosa and took part in the initiation ceremonies, bringing with them the traditional billy goat for the initiates to ride. Before adjourning the camp elected the following "wood-choppers" to represent it at the District Convention which convenes in Santa Rosa on June 30th: Delegates—J. W. Gibson and Frank J. Riser; alternates, Robt. P. Hill and M. Bones.

Wilcox, the Wife Murderer.

The trial of George W. Wilcox, charged with the murder of his wife near Lytton Springs, will commence in Department Two of the Superior Court on Tuesday, May 15th. Sixty jurors have been summoned from whom will be selected twelve men to try the case. Among those subpoenaed from Sonoma Township are the following: William Helberg, Jas. W. Gibson, Sol. H. Carriger, T. Morris and A. D. Graham.

Bought the Washington Market.

Henry Hartin, formerly proprietor of the Central Market in this place, and who sold out to Henry Weber about a year ago, has decided to locate in Petaluma. On Saturday last he took possession of the Washington Market in that place, having bought out Henry Meyerholtz.

Methodist Church.

Preaching services in the Methodist Church Sunday morning, May 13th, at 11 o'clock and in the evening at 8 o'clock. Subject for the morning: "The Seven Churches Representing Seven Types of Christians." For the evening: "What Should be the Attitude of Men Generally Toward the Church." The Epworth League unite at 7 P. M. Henry Pearce, pastor.

Base Ball.

The respective nines of the El Verano's and Bennett Valley's will meet on the diamond at the former place on Sunday, May 20th. The game promises to be an exciting one as there is considerable rivalry between the two teams.

Brief Mention.

Daily Call and Index-Tribune $7.00 per year.

The Board of Supervisors are in session this week.

All tickets for the Convent entertainment which takes place on the 12th of June should have the Convent stamp on the back. None other are good.

Congressman Barham on Monday next will appear before the United States Supreme Court and move the admission to practice in that court of his son, Edwin C. Barham, and the latter's wife, Lydia V. Barham.

I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty I owe to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was taken very badly with flux and procured a bottle of this remedy. A few doses of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from that dreadful disease.—J. W. Lynch, Dorr, W. Va. This remedy is sold by F. Duhring.

DR. SHEARER EXONERATED

His Accusers Shown Up in a Bad Light.

The Board of Supervisors on Wednesday afternoon investigated the charges brought against County Physician Shearer by two discharged female employees, who sought to oust him from his office by accusing him of making insulting proposals to them. After hearing the evidence pro and con the Supervisors completely exonerated the doctor by the following vote: Supervisors Putnam, Glynn, Rains and Meacham. Supervisor Austin declined to vote.

Con Shea, the well-known capitalist, was called as a witness and testified that he was in the doctor's office at the time and heard a woman he afterward learned was Miss Pohlmann crying and asking to be taken back.

As regards Miss Sundell, the doctor said she also was discharged for incompetency. When she came to go, he said, she thanked him for his kindness to her. Dr. Shearer further stated regarding Miss Pohlmann that "her gross insubordination consisted in having frequent closeted interviews with John Scoggin at the hospital during my absence, for the purpose of hatching up some scheme whereby I might be removed."

Speaking of the Rev. W. L. Gaston of this city, to whom Miss Pohlmann had made known her charges, Dr. Shearer said he would tell the public something about him at a later date.

County Clerk Somers B. Fulton was another witness. He said that upon one occasion, while he was in the County Physician's office, Miss Pohlmann came in somewhat intoxicated. Mr. Wagner, an inmate of the hospital, also alleged that Miss Pohlmann liked wine and beer pretty well.

The evidence adduced did more harm to the doctor's young women accusers than to anybody else. The affidavits of Miss Pohlmann and Miss Sundell having been publicly read yesterday, Dr. Shearer was called to answer them. He made a lengthy statement, denying every charge. He said Miss Pohlmann did not resign, but was discharged for incompetency, and stated that when she came to his office and he told her she must leave, she said that she was sorry she had said anything about him and asked to be reinstated.

Guide Board Signs.

Supervisor Putnam has lately had painted in bold black letters fourteen guide board signs, which will be set up at the various cross roads of Sonoma Township for the guidance of the traveling public. These signs, which were painted by Fred Bailey of this place, will be erected along the county road between Kenwood and Schellville during the present month.

A Minister's Mistake.

A city minister was recently handed a notice to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the matter. The clergyman started to read the extract and found that it began: "Take Kenup's Balm, the best cough cure." This was hardly what he expected and after a moment's hesitation he turned it over, and found on the other side the matter intended for the reading.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Racket Alphabet.

- A is for attention—it's what you'll receive
If you'll visit our store and our story believe.
B is for best—it describes just the kind
Of goods on our shelves. You can bear this in mind.
C is for clothing—black, blue, brown and gray,
All styles and all prices to suit every way.
D is for dress goods, silks, velvets and wool,
Braids, linings and trimmings, our stock is now full.
E is for embroideries, ribbons and lace
To tell of their beauties we haven't the space.
F is for flannels—"all wool and yard wide"
With cotton and silk on the shelf by their side.
G is for gloves—kid, chamois and buck,
Cotton, silk, hiele thread, all kinds of luck.
H is for hats, straw, linen and wool.
Colors, styles and prices "right" be your purse lean or full.
I is for indigo—the blue that will last,
In percales, prints, shirtings, warranted fast.
J is for jackets, blacks, browns and tans,
Capes, shawls and parasols, veiling and fans.
K is for knives, both silver and steel
For table or pocket, to whittle or peel.
L is for linen, unbleached and white,
Napkins and tablecloths, muslin just right.
M is for men and not a garment they buy
But in its best quality we can supply.
N is for notions, things dainty and dear,
That ladies are looking for, they'll find them here.
O is for oilcloths, for tables and floors,
Linoleum, matings and portieres for doors.
P is for patterns to make up your clothes,
Cosmopolitan is best as every one knows.
Q is for quilts, blankets, pillows and spreads,
All that you need for the neatest of beds.
R is for Rockford Black Cat hose and others,
The finest for girls and strongest for their brothers.
S is for shoes—our leaders indeed,
All sizes and prices, just what you need.
T is for tailoring—the finest of suits,
To your measure and order and stylish to boot.
U is for underwear, good muslin or wool,
Cotton or cambric, either warm or cool.
V is for velvet in rugs and in carpet,
Brussels and ingrain in this line are put.
W is for wet weather—keep yourself dry
With umbrella, rubbers, mackintosh, you can if you try.
X is for Xmas—then comes Santa Claus
With presents for all and with jolly hurrahs.
Y is for young and no one feels old
When well fitted out for wet weather or cold.
Z is for our zeal—to benefit all
Who read this alphabet and give us a call.

857 Main St., Petaluma.
